Scope of work: As partner, Cecilia Hyun manages a 10-member Ohio practice group while overseeing all real property tax valuation work for the firm's thousands of commercial real estate clients. In her role, Hyun oversees pending tax appeals and supervises strategy development for acquisition/disposition and assessment reviews.

Big win: Hyun successfully bridged a $1.9 million appraisal gap for a case with considerable risk and exposure. Avoiding an increase in value and securing tax savings for her client has been a common result over Hyun's career, the nomination said.

Other contributions: Hyun's community affiliations include the Commercial Real Estate Women (CREW) Network Foundation. The veteran litigator also is a 2020 inductee in the Midwest Commercial Real Estate Hall of Fame.

Methodology: Crain's Notable Women in Law includes only individuals for whom nominations were submitted and accepted after a review by editors. To qualify for the list, which is not comprehensive, nominees must currently serve in a senior leadership role at their firm or organization; have been in the profession for a minimum of five years; be able to demonstrate significant impact to their organization or industry, providing specific examples or descriptions; and serve as a mentor and/or promote equity and inclusivity in the workplace. They also should hold a leadership position in outside professional, industry-related or civic/community organizations. Profiles were written from nomination materials submitted. No more than three honorees per firm may be included on the list. Honorees can appear in up to two Notable features per calendar year.
